I am an accomplished Executive with over 20 years of senior-level expertise in providing innovative leadership and strategic vision in developing, directing, and implementing large-scale IT services, Applications, Infrastructure, Security and Support organizations. Proven success in assessment and alignment of IT strategies, technologies, and services with current and emerging customer, collaborator, and stakeholder expectations and requirements. Expert ability to communicate effectively with executives representing other disciplines to infer IT requirements and expectations and to convey IT vision, strategies, directions, and technologies to meet requirements and expectations.

I specialize in IT organization optimization; vision development, systems strategy and delivering business solutions that enable growth while optimizing costs and comply with Industry best practices. I possess extensive experience in the area of enterprise wide systems implementation, product development and process improvement, security strategies leveraging the value of enterprise systems and technologies that demonstrate low total cost of ownership.

I am a forward thinker, innovative and proactive, team oriented leader complemented by a self-directed, hands on participatory management style. I have experienced establishing and working in matrix global organizations with complex initiatives focused on alignment with corporate and divisional business objectives.

I am ROI driven and solves problems by building and running IT organizations focused on business objectives, continuous improvement, cost management and introducing technology that enable organizational growth/change while increasing efficiencies and sales by providing a competitive advantage and achievement of strategic objectives.

Enclosed is a resume that summarizes my experience. Should my qualifications match your needs, I would appreciate any consideration you could give me. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Roni H.Amiel
